TOWN AFFAIRS GROUP TO MEET

The Town Affairs Study Group of the League of Women Voters will meet at the Memorial Library at 1:30 p. m. next Tuesday to continue their field trips. This one will be to Tewksbury Infirmary and the Town Infirmary. Transportation will be available for anyone desiring to make the trip.

This study group has been correlating its work with the departments of Social and Economic Welfare and Education this year, both at home and afield. A large group heard Mr. Arthur Cole discuss local welfare, and Sheriff Frank Raymond tell of his work, experiences, and some of the conclusions he has drawn from his observations of the offenders who have been in his custody over a period of years.

Will Inspect Homes For Fire Hazards

If you want to know whether your house has any fire hazards—and you should want to know—the local fire department will be glad to inspect it for you. Chief C. Edward Buchan announced this week that his men will inspect any private premises on invitation and make recommendations. There is no compulsion attached to this in any way, and the recommendations need not be followed.

Business and industrial plants are being inspected periodically for fire hazards. In these cases, however, the department has the authority to issue orders which must be complied with within 48 hours.

APRIL 6—DR. T. Z. KOO

The Society of Inquiry of Phillips Academy will hold a meeting at George Washington Hall on Sunday, April 6, at 7 o'clock, at which time they will present Dr. T. Z. Koo of China who will speak on the subject, "Some Aspects of the Situation in the Far East."

Dr. Koo is one of the outstanding Christian leaders of China and one of the ablest interpreters of Chinese thought and action. For many years he has traveled back and forth between America and the Orient, keeping in touch with the political, economic and religious situation in both parts of the world.

His work in both countries has been primarily with college students and what he has to say is of special significance to those interested in education and the power of ideas and ideals.

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

APRIL 6—ABBOT VESPER

At the regular Vesper service on Sunday evening there will be a program of singing and poetry reading. Miss Margaret Van Voorhis, a graduate of Abbot, and now dean of the Katherine Gibbs School of Boston, will sing two groups of songs, and Miss Hearsey will read two groups of poems.

Friends of the school are cordially invited to this service as to all the Sunday evening services.

APRIL 8—MINSTREL

The Margaret Slattery Class Minstrel show was so well attended and enjoyed so very much that it will be presented again in the Square and Compass Club hall next Tuesday evening for the admission price of 50 cents. Only a small number of tickets are available, and it is suggested that you purchase yours early for another lively evening by the Margaret Slattery Minstrels.

APRIL 12—MICROVIVARIUM

On Saturday evening, April 12, Dr. George Roemmert will present with his Microvivarium a lecture demonstration of "The Struggle of Life and Death in an Unseen World." This lecture with the amazing magnified pictures of living micro-organisms caused great interest at the Chicago and New York World's Fairs and will be presented at 8 o'clock in Davis Hall, without admission charge.

APRIL 16—MUSICAL

One of the most colorful musical events of the Spring season will be the Fourteenth annual concert by the Andover Male Choir on April 16th in the Memorial Auditorium. The choir has already had twenty public engagements, and will close its local season with this event.

The choir will have as its guest the Amphion Club of Melrose, a group of about 70 male voices and the oldest male glee club in the New England Federation of Men's Glee Club. Last year it was host to the Federation's annual convention in Melrose, which was an exceptionally well managed affair. As singers, the club ranks with the best and is ably conducted by Dr. James R. Houghton of Boston University. (Picture elsewhere in paper.)

The Amphion Club was originally a small Masonic choir, but in October, 1892, decided to expand and organize a choir of larger proportions with a limit of 60 voices. It met with immediate success, and for half a century this club has furnished the people of Melrose a high standard of music under real leadership.

One of the Amphion members, Henry A. Jenks, now in his 80th year, has maintained a remarkable interest in the club, and has sung in every concert by the Amphion Club since 1892, a total of 143 public appearances. He now lives in Waltham but journeys to Melrose each week and attends rehearsals regularly in the Melrose Y. M. C. A. He has not missed more than two in his long career.

Joint concerts by the Federated Glee Clubs have increased the fraternal spirit among the members and clubs. These organizations include a large group of talented singers who have rendered valuable assistance to many benevolent causes in their several communities. The Melrose club takes a leading position in this great field of endeavor.

The combined Andover and Melrose clubs will make a chorus of over 100 male voices, all exceptionally well trained. Each leader, Mr. Collins and Dr. Houghton, will conduct the group, and the Melrose club will render several selections.

Another program feature will be the Punchard High School All Girl Band of 65 pieces. These girls, under the leadership of Miss Miriam Sweeney, have developed remarkably as a musical unit and have done much to create a musical atmosphere in the High School and in the town. They are deserving of considerable praise and their appearance in full uniform will lend a brilliant addition to the program.

Tickets for this concert may be obtained from any member of the Andover Male Choir.

An asphalt roof is only as tough as the materials that go into it. It will only stand as much hard service as the asphalt itself can stand.

Here is where Barber Genasco Roofing definitely leads the field because one of the asphalts that go into it has an almost unbelievable record of weather resistance to back it up. No other roofings are made with this asphalt; it is Trinidad Native Lake Asphalt. Known as a vital element.

STALWART AGAINST THE STORM!

When the sea shimmers peacefully in the sunlight, the strong wall which protects the house above the shore seems useless and unnecessary. But the wise householder knows to what furies that still surface can be stirred; he rests content because the wall is there.

Storms break on the shore of every family's life — and nobody knows when they will come. That is why life insurance stands guard over homes where all is now serene. Seemingly unnecessary to-day — it becomes a strong wall against the world when financial storms arise.

The storm of adversity is at its height during the period immediately following the death of husband and father. The John Hancock Readjustment Income Plan provides protection during this critical period at a cost that is within the most rigid family budget. Ask us about a plan to fit your budget.

A Fine Choice

To Gene Lovely and to Milton Blanchard we extend our very sincere congratulations on their election to the principalships of Punchard high and the Junior high, with our best wishes for a very successful term of office. Their previous records in their respective schools are pretty sure guarantees that their administrations will be a source of pride to Andover.

Everybody knows Gene and everybody likes him. He's been for thirty years an important part of Andover life; to many of Andover's men of today he was an important guiding influence in their early days of youth when a real good influence is needed. To many more of Andover's future youth we know he is going to prove an even more important influence.

Milton Blanchard is less well-known in Andover, for he hasn't been here long. Those who have had the opportunity to meet him however and to judge his work can feel full confidence in him, for his few years here have proved his worth.

Andover's future is in good hands.

A Mentality Test For Office-holders

This is really a good idea. Of course it won't work, but still it's a good idea. Every once in a while as you read of some of the doings of public officials don't you say to yourself: "Why isn't there some way that we can keep such people out of public office?"

For appointive public office we have things fairly well under control through the civil service method. There are abuses of course; even the operation of a civil service examination plan must be handled by humans who are appointed by politicians who in turn are not subject to an examination. In Massachusetts at present the system works pretty well, but it wasn't always so. We have a good governor at present; we didn't always have that type.

Yes, they are appointed by politicians who are not subject to an examination—and therein lies the idea. What would happen if between nomination time and ballot-printing time the nominees had to take an examination to determine whether or not their names should go on the ballot. Not an examination to see whether they can translate Latin or find out what "x" is in a certain equation, but a scholastic aptitude test, a psychological test designed to see how they use their mentality if they possess such a thing. Wouldn't that limit the field? Here in Andover some of those now holding office wouldn't even have gotten on the ballot (those whom it will fit will put that particular shoe on). In the state some of our former governors would have had to find a job in private life somewhere. In Boston at present the City Council would be an entirely different body—honestly now did you read where that august body had voted to ask the police to ban "H. M. Pulham, Esquire," and most of them hadn't read it? When we read it, we found it to be a very interesting story about some very real people with salaciousness at a minimum far below the ordinary 20th century novel, and everybody else who has read it apparently feels the same.

But it takes someone who hasn't read it to decide it should be banned. That is mentality!

The people we elect have the power to decide on so much of our daily life that it is terribly important that they exercise some degree of brain power. Unlimited democracy demands that very few limitations be put on the qualifications for voters; certainly if no mentality traits are required for voting, then the next best thing would be to make it impossible for us to vote for someone with little mentality.

You Don't Get Away With It

Somehow we don't really think anyone gets away with hit and run accidents. It's cowardliness in its worst form, and no matter how long you live, you really can't get away from it. Yes, of course, the chances are that you'll never get caught by the police, because you were pretty certain that no one saw you hit the man and leave him lying on the street—and that of course makes it all the more cowardly. But it's going to stay with you. You're going to have to live with yourself, and you're going to have that memory of hitting the person, of frantically looking around to see if anyone saw you, of sneaking away as fast as you can, of looking at your car to see if there was any tell-tale evidence, of your brain whirling around every time you hear anybody at the door, of nights when you couldn't sleep for fear you're going to be caught, of slinking around the streets hardly daring to look your friends straight in the eye because your conscience tells you you're so downright rotten, so abominably low that you have no right to look anybody straight in the eye.

Plan Good Friday Union Service

The annual union three-hour service will be held on Good Friday, April 11, from 12 to 3 o'clock at the Cochran chapel, Phillips Academy. The service will be conducted by the ministers of the Andover churches, using the Seven Last Words from the Cross with intervals of organ meditation. This service is the climax of the Union Lenten services, and the attendance has increased steadily each year. Services will also be held at Christ church and St. Augustine's, and everyone in the community is urged to observe Good Friday by being present at one of these services.

The public schools will close on that day at 11:45. Stores will also be closed during the three hours.

FRONT COVER

Off to Atlantic City at the end of the month will go Andover's physical education director Donald Dunn to attend the National Convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. There he will take an active part in the convention. In his few years here he has developed an outstanding physical education program, one example of which is this cover picture taken by Donald Look of three Punchard boys showing what form on the floor parallels really is.

Hit-Run Driver Injures Sexton

George B. Petrie, well-known Free church sexton, was felled Saturday evening by a hit-run driver on Elm street. He was removed to the Lawrence General hospital, where he was treated for abrasions about the face and legs. On Tuesday morning he was removed to his home on Chickering court and he is now recovering from his injuries there.

Andover Interested In Insurance Bill

A large number of Andover residents have been attending hearings at the state house on a proposed bill which would allow mutual insurance companies to issue policies without the present mandatory policyholder assessment liability clause. Only Massachusetts and New Hampshire now require this of mutuals, but companies in these two states operating in other states still have to include this provision because of reciprocity laws.

The clause was originally adopted as a safeguard in case of a tremendous loss, but no Bay State fire mutual has had to assess policyholders since the Boston fire of 1872, at which time only four mutuals failed as against 22 stock companies which are not required to have the assessment clause. The present bill permits a mutual to issue non-assessable policies when the company has the same financial status that the law requires a stock company to have, $200,000 to $300,000 surplus. Since the Merrimack and Cambridge companies which have their home offices here have a surplus well over that amount, local persons are much interested in the bill as it will bring more business to Andover from all over the country. The three local representatives are in favor of it, but Senator Babcock has not recorded himself as yet.

David Cunningham Town's Oldest Man

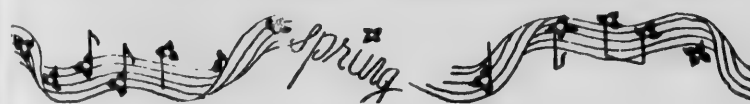

David Cunningham of 149 Shaw-sheen road has become Andover's oldest man, succeeding William C. Coutts who died recently. Mr. Cunningham was born December 2, 1849, in Andover. He has been presented with the Post cane by the selectmen, with Mr. Shepard and Mr. Hardy making the presentation.

Textile Exhibit At Addison Gallery

From April 4th and May 1st, the Addison Gallery will hold an exhibition of "Decorative Textiles." This will include three groups obtained from different sources and aims to show three widely separated approaches to textile designing. The earliest pieces shown are examples of printed cottons from the collection of Mrs. Agnes Holden, some of which were manufactured at Jouy after designs by that factory's most famous designer Huet. Maple Syrup Time Is Here

This week we have received a shipment of real Maple Syrup from Moultonboro, N. H. It is the smoothest and finest tasting maple syrup we have had in a long time. We secured it through Mr. Herbert Kimball of the M. I. Kimball Company of Lawrence. Mr. Kimball has a summer home next to a maple sugar grove. He told a group of the Independent Grocers how carefully the owner of this grove, Mr. Thomas Cooney, and his family prepared the syrup for market. So a few of us have taken the entire output. It is 100% pure and Mr. Cooney's name is on every gallon. Price—gallon $2.95, quart 79c, pint 40c.

A slight accident was reported Sunday morning, with Mrs. James Coleman, Jr., of 34 Enmore street suffering a back injury. Mr. Coleman was coming up Essex street and stopped in front of St. Augustine's church to pick up a boy.

Yesterday morning P. Leroy Wilson reported to the police a break in Sullivan's variety store on Essex street. A window had been broken and a latch opened. Apparently, however, the thieves had been frightened off before taking anything.

MACY

AN, April 3, 1941

The home at 42 Chestnut street was plunged into grief Tuesday night for the second time in less than two months when Walter H.
Coleman passed away at the age of 66. On February 26 Mr. Coleman's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ralph Coleman, had passed away.

Walter Coleman was a familiar
prominent in electric light activities here for over half a century.
He was born in Nantucket but came here to serve as superintendent of the old Andover Electric Light company, having previously been employed by Western Union.
His life here was spent in the garage business and in electrical contracting. In public life he served as a town auditor for many years, and he was a member and chairman of the street lighting committee for about a quarter of a century. He was a past master of the Masonic Lodge. In January he marked his 53rd wedding anniversary.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs.
Phoebe (Russell) Coleman, two daughters, Mrs. George E. Hussey of Andover and Mrs. Harvey B.
McCrone of Los Angeles, Cal., and one son, Ralph Coleman of Andover.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Lundgren funeral home by Rev. Herman C. Johnson. Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery.

Miss Ellen Caffrey, who lived with her sister, Mrs. Mary Daley of Tewksbury street, passed away Friday morning. She was 79 years of age, and although she had been ill for a long time, her courage and cheerfulness had made her a good patient who will be missed by her many friends.

Funeral services were held on Monday with a high mass of requiem at St. Joseph's church by Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A. Burial was in St. Augustine's cemetery.

Last night death came to a highly respected resident of Ballardvale.
Mrs. Edward Godreau, after only a very short illness. She was born Marie S. Chamberlain in Paris, France, 53 years ago, and had lived in the Vale for the past 19 years.
Mr. Godreau is the sole immediate survivor.

Mrs. Godreau was a member of the Eastern Star and of the Rebekahs.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at two from the Lundgren Funeral home. Burial will be in Spring Grove cemetery.
